21.3 You agree not to assign or otherwise transfer, this Agreement in whole or in part, including the Software or your rights or obligations under it. Any attempt to do so shall be void. We may assign all or any part of this Agreement without notice and you agree to make all subsequent payments as directed.

21.4 Resolution of Disputes.

21.4.1 The parties desire to resolve disputes arising out of this Agreement without litigation. Accordingly, except for action seeking a temporary restraining order or injunction related to the purposes of this Agreement, or suit to compel compliance with this dispute resolution process, the parties agree to use the following alternative dispute resolution procedure as their sole remedy with respect to any controversy or claim arising out of or relating to this Agreement or its breach.

21.4.2 At the written request of a party, each party will appoint a knowledgeable, responsible representative to meet and negotiate in good faith to resolve any dispute arising under this Agreement. The parties intend that these negotiations be conducted by non-lawyer, business representatives. The location, format, frequency, duration, and conclusion of these discussions shall be left to the discretion of the representatives. Upon agreement, the representatives may mutually agree to utilize other alternative dispute resolution procedures such as mediation to assist in the negotiations. Discussions and correspondence among the representatives for purposes of these negotiations shall be treated as confidential information developed for purposes of settlement, exempt from discovery and production, which shall not be admissible in the arbitration described below or in any lawsuit without the concurrence of all parties. Documents identified in or provided with such communications that are not prepared for purposes of the negotiations are not so exempted and may, if otherwise admissible, be admitted in evidence in the arbitration or lawsuit.

21.4.3 If the negotiations do not resolve the dispute within sixty (60) calendar days of the initial written request, the dispute shall be submitted to binding arbitration by a single arbitrator pursuant to the Commercial Arbitration Rules of the American Arbitration Association. A party may demand such arbitration in accordance with the procedures set out in those rules. Discovery shall be controlled by the arbitrator and shall be permitted to the extent set out in this section. Each party may submit in writing to a party, and that party shall so respond, to a maximum of any combination of twenty-five (25) (none of which may have subparts) of the following: interrogatories, demands to produce documents and requests for admission. Each party is also entitled to take the oral deposition of one (1) individual representing another party. Additional discovery may be permitted upon mutual agreement of the parties. The arbitration hearing shall be commenced within sixty (60) calendar days of the demand for arbitration. The arbitration shall be held in Honolulu Hawaii. The arbitrator shall control the scheduling so as to process the matter expeditiously. The parties may submit written briefs. The arbitrator shall rule on the dispute by issuing a written opinion within thirty (30) calendar days after the close of hearings. The times specified in this section may be changed upon mutual agreement of the parties or by the arbitrator upon a showing of good cause. Judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrator may be entered in any court having jurisdiction.

21.4.4 Each party shall bear its own costs of these procedures. A party seeking discovery shall reimburse the responding party the costs of production of documents (to include reasonable search time and reproduction costs). The parties shall equally split the fees of the arbitration and the arbitrator.

21.5 You and Hawaiian Telcom agree that the substantive laws of the State of Hawaii, without reference to its principles of conflicts of laws, will be applied to govern, construe and enforce all of the rights and duties of the parties arising from or relating in any way to the subject matter of this Agreement. Contractor/manufacturer is Hawaiian Telcom or its licensors and suppliers. The use of Software and documentation is further restricted in accordance with the terms of this Agreement.

21.7 In the event of a conflict between this Agreement and any applicable tariff, the tariff shall prevail. We reserve the right to modify the Service to reflect any change in any applicable tariff or underlying network service or component affecting the Service.

21.8 Hawaiian Telcom's failure at any time to insist upon strict compliance with any of the provisions of this Agreement in any instance shall not be construed to be a waiver of such terms in the future. If any provision of this Agreement is determined to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, the validity, legality, and enforceability of the remaining provisions shall not in any way be affected or impaired thereby, and the unenforceable portion shall be construed as nearly as possible to reflect the original intentions of the parties.

21.9 This Agreement, including all Appendices and all other policies posted on the Website, which are fully incorporated into this Agreement either by attachment or by reference, constitutes the entire agreement between you and Hawaiian Telcom with respect to the subject matter hereto and supersedes any and all prior or contemporaneous agreements whether written or oral. What information does the Hawaiian Telcom Website gather?

Please be assured that we do not collect personal information from you unless you provide it to us. This means that you can visit our Websites without telling us who you are or revealing any information about yourself (such as your e-mail address, software you are using, or any information about yourself).

As you browse the site, our web servers collect information about your visit, not about you personally. Via web server logs, we monitor statistics such as:

- How many people visit our site
- Which pages people visit on our site
- From which domains our visitors come (e.g., aol.com)
- Which browsers people use to visit our site

None of this information is associated with you as an individual. We use these statistics to improve our Website, to monitor its performance, and to make the Website easier for you and other visitors to use.

What about pages that ask for personal information?

When visitors supply information about themselves for a specific purpose, we use the information for that purpose (such as to provide the service or information the visitor has requested).

For example, you may be asked to give us individual information to purchase a product or service, receive information, manage online account registration, or apply for a job. The information may range from your zip code, to your phone number, account number, a credit card number, age, gender, mother's maiden name, social security number, e-mail address, organization URL, resume, or mailing address.

When visitors use our Website to order services, we may use this individually identifiable information as we would use the same information obtained in a traditional non-electronic manner. For example, to publish your name, address, and phone number in our directories (unless you have requested a non-published number), or to evaluate your service needs and contact you regarding additional services you may find useful.

Should any changes be made in the way we use personally identifiable information, Hawaiian Telcom may notify you of this change by posting a notice on its privacy policy Website located at support.hawaiiantel.net/policies/.

How does Hawaiian Telcom combat phishing & email spoofing?

Hawaiian Telcom does not ask you to disclose sensitive personal information such as credit card information or banking information in an email. If we provide online access to your account, you will be asked to enter your login name and password for authentication purposes. When receiving emails with links requesting such sensitive information, it is possible they are suspicious forms of Phishing or Email Spoofing. Phishing emails are attempts to steal consumers' personal identity data and financial account credentials. 'Spoofed' e-mails are those which mimic an email from a real branded corporate address such as security@ebay.com to lead consumers to counterfeit Websites designed to trick recipients into divulging financial data such as credit card numbers, account usernames, passwords and social security numbers. When replying to such emails, the reply often goes somewhere other than the email's address as sent. This is done by hijacking brand names of banks, e-retailers and credit card companies, phishers often convince recipients to respond. It is best to simply not respond to such emails, and contact your bank/financial institution directly to see if there messages or other important information by following normal logon protocols.

Our normal practice is to send you an email confirming significant changes made to your account online, such as, updates to the email address registered with us, payments on an account, or new services added.

You can protect yourself by regularly logging into your online account to ensure that all transactions are legitimate. Other tips on how you can protect yourself can be found at http://www.antiphishing.org/consumer_rec.html.

Network performance and your Internet connection

Hawaiian Telcom automatically measures and monitors network performance and the performance of your Internet connection in order to improve the level of your service. Hawaiian Telcom also will access information about your computer's settings in order to provide customized technical support. You can be assured that no adjustments to your computer settings will be made without your permission, which you give at the time that the adjustments are being made, and which you can revoke at any time. Hawaiian Telcom does not share information collected for the purpose of network or computer performance monitoring or for providing customized technical support outside of Hawaiian Telcom or its authorized vendors, contractors and agents.

What happens to information when I fill out registration forms?

We encourage all visitors to register with us, although registration is only required for certain transaction-related areas of the www.hawaiiantel.net or other Hawaiian Telcom or co-branded sites. The registration forms request accurate contact information (like name and e-mail address) and preferences that help us better serve you. Your name and e-mail address are used to send you information about our company, product updates, special offers, and newsletters. You may change your email, user ID or password online; or you can choose to remove your name from our user list by going to contact us and emailing us a request to remove your name from the online billing application.

For our local phone service customers, you may also be given the option of registering a profile with us (limited to specific areas). This would store your name, purchase history, and billing information to make it easier for you to shop and purchase products/services from us in the future. You may opt out of this feature at any time by either selecting "contact us" at www.hawaiiantel.net and emailing us your request or in some applications you can cancel/change your profile within the application itself.

We strive to ensure that the information we obtain and use about customers is accurate. Please contact us to review or modify any personal information we have previously collected from you online or if you find an error in your bill. Customers have access to their account information via our monthly bills. To improve the services we can offer you, we may decide to expand the site's capabilities for obtaining information about users in the future. We will update this privacy statement continually to ensure that you are aware of developments in this area.

Who has access to this Information?

Hawaiian Telcom does not sell or disclose individually-identifiable information obtained online, or information about you or your account or service, to anyone outside of Hawaiian Telcom Services Company, Inc. or its authorized vendors, contractors, affiliates and agents unless you specifically authorize it, disclosure is required by law, or deemed necessary by Hawaiian Telcom in its sole discretion to protect the safety, rights or property of Hawaiian Telcom or any other person or entity. If you provide individually identifiable information to us in the context of an event Hawaiian Telcom sponsors with another company, such as a contest, or if you register on a co-sponsored site or feature, you may also be providing the individually identifiable information to the co-sponsor. For example, on Hawaiian Telcom co-branded sites, our partner will generally co-own the customer information received through the site. How the partner uses this information will be explained in the privacy statement at the co-branded site, which will govern the use of data gathered through the co-branded site.

Hawaiian Telcom may share non-personally identifiable information with non-Hawaiian Telcom companies in order to assess the results of a promotion or event. This information is used in aggregate only, and does not contain any information that would personally identify you.

Does this site send e-mail to site visitors?

At times, online surveys are conducted in which you can choose to participate. In addition, we may use e-mail to communicate with our customers, to respond to visitors' e-mail, to confirm orders placed online, and to send information that a visitor has requested. Occasionally, we may use opt-in e-mail lists from third parties to promote our latest specials. If you receive an unwanted e-mail from us, you can use the Reply feature on your browser and simply ask us to remove you from our list.

What are cookies and why do you use them?

A cookie is a small, encrypted data string our server writes to your hard drive that contains your unique User ID for our Website. We may use cookies to deliver web content specific to your interests, to keep track of your order as you order services, and to control access to our premium content. A cookie cannot be used to access or otherwise compromise the data on your hard drive. You can choose to change your browser settings to disable cookies if you do not want us to establish and maintain a unique Hawaiian Telcom User ID. Please be aware that cookies may be required to complete certain functions on the Hawaiian Telcom Website, such as ordering in our online store.

Do you accommodate links to other sites?

The Hawaiian Telcom Website contains links to other Websites. We are not responsible for the content or the privacy policies employed by other sites. We are committed to safeguarding customer privacy on all our Websites. We require our employees to protect the privacy of information about our customers and expect our partners and suppliers to do so as well. You can feel confident that your individually identifiable information will be protected when you access your account or order services from us over the Internet.

What is Hawaiian Telcom's position regarding online advertising and third party ad servers?

As part of the online advertising process, we use information supplied from third party companies in several ways however, this is aggregated data and does not personally identify any individual online user.

This data is used to:

- gain a better understanding of the type of individuals viewing or visiting different Websites,
- evaluate and prioritize site selection when developing online media plans,
- geographically target advertising,
- deliver product and pricing advertising/information applicable to the customers' state, and gauge the effectiveness of our online advertising.

Personally identifiable information such as name, address, phone number or email address is not collected.

In addition, some Hawaiian Telcom Websites may accept advertisements from third party advertisers. These advertisers are carefully selected to provide information about products and services that we think may benefit Hawaiian Telcom customers. These third party advertisers may collect non-personally identifiable information about users of this Website for the same reasons listed above, but personally identifiable information is not collected. Hawaiian Telcom does not have control of nor access to any information contained in the cookies that are set by third party advertisers.

Non Personally Identifiable Information

Cookies help Hawaiian Telcom to enhance the user's online experience and are used to:

- deliver the appropriate geographic message
- manage frequency of ad exposure; avoid over delivery of the same message
- tailor an advertisement to better match your interests and preferences
- ensure that you see the correct products and pricing applicable to the state in which you live
- understand advertising effectiveness

However, customers are free to delete Website cookies. Most internet browsers enable you to erase cookies from your computer hard drive, block all cookies, or receive a warning before a cookie is stored.

However, you need to understand that some Websites / ad-serving companies have the ability to reestablish your history even after cookie deletion, if you reenter the same site on another occasion, or some other site tracked by the ad-serving company/network, and specifically provide personal data.

Deletion of cookies alone does not prevent ad-serving companies from reestablishing history on a visitor. The visitor must either continue to decline cookies each time it reenters the site to keep the tracking severed, if desired, or opt-out. When you opt-out, your unique user ID cookie is erased and you are reassigned an anonymous, non-id cookie. This new cookie tells Websites that you have opted out and they will then know not to attempt to assign other cookies to you in the future. Opt-out cookies do not contain a unique user ID number therefore Websites are not able to identify your computer uniquely.

Customers who choose to continually delete cookies and not opt out can have their browser advise them each time a Website attempts to send a cookie to your system. At that time, you can choose to either Accept or Cancel a cookie.

Customers who choose to "opt out" after deleting cookies will receive an anonymous/non personally identifiable cookie.

Personally Identifiable Information

Personally identifiable information voluntarily supplied by our customers or our visitors, i) who receive or provide information on our Website, or ii) who purchase Hawaiian Telcom products on our Website, or iii) who interact with our banners/advertising on outside Websites, is not shared for use outside Hawaiian Telcom or its authorized vendors, contractors and agents. This information is Hawaiian Telcom proprietary data and is not available to any outside company in this personalized form, except with a customer's or visitor's permission or where disclosure is otherwise required or permitted by law. No outside company is allowed access to this information.

For example, if you provide us with information (such as phone number or email address) and ask to be contacted when High Speed Internet Service is available in your area, we will notify you when High Speed Internet Access is available; or, if you enter such information online and qualify for High Speed Internet service, we may contact you to provide additional information and to follow up on your inquiry. If you are contacted by telephone as a follow up to your inquiry, you may request to be removed from our calling list at that time. We will not use this information for any other reason nor will we share it with any outside company.

Should any changes be made in the way we use personally identifiable information, Hawaiian Telcom will contact you via email, or by other means, notifying you of this change, and give you the opportunity to choose to opt-out of such use.

Protection of Children's Personal Information

Hawaiian Telcom Website Services are not designed to attract children under the age of 18. Although we do feature sites that may be of interest to young viewers, we do not collect personally identifiable information on children. Further, Hawaiian Telcom offers tools for parents to educate young Internet users on safe surfing practices, including filtering tools to help children and parents avoid objectionable content online. The consumer will have the ability to choose not to have that information aggregated and be part of subsequent marketing campaigns by choosing to be identified within the application.

Please note
